

An Indigenous Perspective, Sharing History and Cultural Exchange

When: Thu, February 10, 12:15pm – 1:30pm

Where: <https://nku.zoom.us/j/99725703406>

Session: The Indigenous experience is complex and diverse. This session will provide an opportunity to introduce the Indigenous perspective focusing on the indigenous peoples north of Mexico. We will explore common cultural indigenous themes and brief history to enhance cultural awareness through discussion, reflection, and question/answer.

This webinar is funded by Faculty Project Grant 2021-2022

eLearning to Advance Racial and Ethnic Diversity Friendly
University Initiative

Speaker

Dr. Anne Sahingoz, Assistant Professor, joined NKU in 2021. She earned her Doctorate in Nursing Practice from Walden University in 2016. She also holds a Master's in Nursing Science and Education from Chamberlain University in 2013. Dr Sahingoz currently teaches Advanced Theoretical Foundations of Nursing Practice Analysis, Application of Health Data for APRN practice, and DNP Practicum for the Graduate Program in the School of Nursing. She newly serves on the DEI University committee at NKU

She has been a nurse for 19 years and a nurse educator for 17 years. She is interested in enhancing cultural diversity in Nursing and serves as the Native American Mentor for students who are interested in the Health and Sciences career path through the Kentucky Native American Employment and training program.

Dr. Sahingoz works to eliminate water inequity and engages in opportunities of justice to restore the availability of clean drinking water to households in need, locally, nationally and globally, because water is a fundamental right and health need to peoples of all nations.

Moderator

Suk-hee Kim, Ph.D., COI, MSW, is an Associate Professor & Academic Affairs Diversity Faculty Fellow (selected) in the College of Health and Human Services' School of Social Work at Northern Kentucky University. Dr. Kim is a Principal Investigator for the e-Learning to Advance Racial and Ethnic Diversity Friendly University Initiative.

